Biography

Described by the Los Angeles Daily Journal as a "legal titan", and by Chambers as a "known litigation genius", John B. Quinn is one of the most prominent business trial lawyers in the United States. As Chambers put it in their 2007 guide to U.S. lawyers and law firms: "'Tough guy' John Quinn is 'confident and quick' say clients. Opponents acknowledge his 'convincing courtroom demeanor' and one even named him 'literally the best I have ever faced in the past half dozen years.'" This sentiment echoed The American Lawyer's 2006 feature article, which described the Am Law 100 firm that Mr. Quinn built from scratch as "Better. Faster. Tougher. Scarier". ("The Mighty Quinn, John Quinn Is in Better Shape Than You Are. Now He Wants to Eat Your Lunch", The American Lawyer, 2006.) Or, as further summed up by his clients in Chambers—"there is no other".

He has been named "One of the World's Leading Litigation Lawyers" by Euromoney Institutional Investor; "One of California's Leading Litigators" by Chambers; "One of the Top 3 Trial Lawyers of Choice by General Counsel in California" by California Law Business; one of the "Outstanding Trial Lawyers of America," by Chambers U.S.A., in 2003 and 2004; "One of the Top 15 Litigators in California" by the Los Angeles Daily Journal ; "One of the Top 45 Lawyers Under the Age of 45 in the United States" by The American Lawyer (when he was under 45); "One of the 100 Most Influential Lawyers in California" by California Law Business, 2000, 2001 (one of 9 business litigators so named); a "Litigation Star" by Benchmark Litigation; a First Tier "Leading Trial Lawyer" by The Legal 500 USA; and a "Super Lawyer" by Los Angeles Magazine. In 2003 he won the largest jury verdict awarded to individual plaintiffs (source: AP). In 2009, he was named "California Attorney of the Year" for "extraordinary achievements" in intellectual property law by The California Lawyer for his work on the highly publicized litigation for Mattel, Inc. over the "Bratz" line of dolls. In 2013, he was named one of "The 100 Most Influential Lawyers in America" by The National Law Journal and one of The American Lawyer's "Top 50 Most Innovative Lawyers" over the past half century. In 2015, he was named "Transatlantic Law Firm Leader of the Year" at The American Lawyer's Transatlantic Legal Awards.

Since 1987, Mr. Quinn has also been General Counsel of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, the organization that awards the Academy Awards.

Notable Representations

- Represented Samsung Electronics Company and its U.S. subsidiaries in the latest chapter of Cupertino based Apple Inc.'s "holy war" against the Android smartphone operating system. In the face of allegations that Samsung infringed five patents and owed Apple $2.2 billion in damages, Quinn Emanuel, led by Mr. Quinn, remained undaunted. During a trial held in Apple's backyard (San Jose, California), the firm convinced the jury that two of Apple's patents were not infringed and, more importantly, that Apple's damages were less than 5.5% of the amount Apple sought. Mr. Quinn's trial team further convinced the jury that Apple itself was an infringer, having used technology covered by one of Samsung's counterclaim patents. Outnumbered but not outgunned, Mr. Quinn obtained this result against no fewer than three nationally recognized law firms that represented Apple throughout the case.
- Represented two dozen hedge funds—including Elliott, Davidson-Kempner, Appaloosa, and Angelo Gordon—as plaintiff-holders of Yosemite and Enron Credit-Linked (ECLN) Notes in the Yosemite v. Citibank action in the Enron MDL. The noteholders asserted fraudulent transfer claims against Citibank and collectively sought in excess of $1.4 billion on those claims. With Citibank's motion for summary judgment pending, Citibank and Enron agreed to a joint settlement and our clients received in excess of $2.1 billion in payments from the Enron bankruptcy estate.

- In a widely covered decision, argued by Mr. Quinn in the Federal Circuit Court of Appeal, the Court vacated a preliminary injunction issued against Samsung in the Apple-Samsung smartphone wars, holding that Apple failed to show causal nexus between the infringing feature and the irreparable harm to support a preliminary injunction. The opinion clarified the legal standard for finding causal nexus between patent infringement and the irreparable harm required for an injunction. For products like modern smartphones, which contain hundreds or thousands of patented features, this decision makes it more difficult for any patent holder to justify an injunction based on alleged infringement of a single feature patent. The Court also held that, under the proper claim construction, the Galaxy Nexus likely does not infringe Apple's '604 patent.
- Defended a former director and majority shareholder of Peregrine Systems, Inc. against claims by putative classes of federal plaintiffs, two state-court lawsuits by groups of investors, and claims by the Peregrine Litigation Trust, which sought in excess of $2 billion from Peregrine's directors, officers, and others. (A dozen insiders pleaded guilty in connection with the facts underlying these claims.) Obtained complete dismissal, with prejudice in the largest case in this series of litigations. The action was pending for more than three years, and the plaintiffs' claim never progressed beyond the pleading stage.
- Obtained a dismissal for Mattel with prejudice of a Sherman Act suit brought by a competitor seeking $3 billion.
- Represented Dr. Enrico Bondi, Extraordinary Commissioner of Parmalat S.P.A., in three separate $10 billion lawsuits arising out of the largest bankruptcy in European history ("Europe's Enron")—against Grant Thornton, Bank of America, and Citigroup, for aiding and abetting Parmalat's insiders in the commission of massive fraud and for auditor malfeasance. Obtained a $150 million settlement from Deloitte & Touche.
- Represented the University of Southern California in a retrial against the plaintiff's claim to lost profits following a remand from the Court of Appeal permitting the plaintiff to pursue such a claim. The plaintiff, a dental implant manufacturer, was seeking in excess of $1 billion in lost profits arising out of a failed clinical study. At trial, plaintiff was not awarded any lost profits. Mr. Quinn was lead counsel at trial.

- In the fall of 2012, obtained a favorable settlement for client in case involving right of publicity claims asserted by the members a rock group in connection with the inclusion of avatars based upon them that appeared in a videogame.
- In February 2012, the California Court of Appeal, Second District, affirmed successful defense verdict after two week jury trial in favor of billionaire Donald Bren. Plaintiffs and Appellants Christie Bren and David Bren appealed over 15 evidentiary and discovery rulings by the trial judge, and also appealed the grant of summary judgment against their mother Jennifer Gold. The Court of Appeal affirmed on all grounds. The Court of Appeal's opinion brought to an end nearly nine years of litigation by Donald Bren's former girlfriend, Jennifer Gold, and his two biological children, David and Christie Bren. After three lawsuits, and a jury trial in August 2010, the firm successfully defended all claims for fraud and breach of contract. Mr. Quinn was lead counsel at trial.
- Obtained favorable settlement of objections filed by the Lehman Brothers Creditors' Committee and the Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc. estates to claims asserted by JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. in the bankruptcy cases pursuant to which approximately $700 million in funds were returned to the LBHI estate and $80 million in claims were re-characterized from secured to unsecured claims.
- Represented Occidental Petroleum and won jury verdict establishing liability in insurance coverage case regarding business interruption losses sustained from over two hundred terrorist bombings of an oil pipeline in Colombia. Case settled for nine figures before the damages phase of the trial. Mr. Quinn was lead counsel at trial.
- Represented Genentech when Columbia University demanded that Genentech license its "new" patent on co-transformation, a widely used recombinant DNA technique for producing protein in a host cell. Genentech sued the University for obviousness-type double patenting. With summary judgment motion looming, the University agreed to a broad covenant not to sue Genentech for past, current or future infringement of the "new" patent or any reissued patent with the same or similar claims.
- Represented two German nationals, formerly employed by Bertelsmann, who moved to Santa Barbara and sued media giant Bertelsmann AG and its former CEO. While working for Bertelsmann, the former executives had been the driving force behind the creation and development of AOL Europe, a joint venture between Bertelsmann and AOL. When Bertelsmann sold its interest in AOL Europe for $6.75 billion, it refused to compensate plaintiffs. They asserted claims for breach of contract and breach of partnership agreement, among others. Mr. Quinn obtained a $295 million verdict. It was the seventh largest jury verdict in the nation that year.

- Represented General Motors in case against Volkswagen and GM's former head of sourcing in Detroit for stealing secret GM documents. Working closely with inside lawyers from GM, he amassed devastating evidence and defeated all Volkswagen's jurisdictional and substantive motions. On the eve of the Volkswagen chairman's deposition, Mr. Quinn obtained a $1.1 billion settlement for General Motors.
- Represented Avery Dennison Corporation and obtained an $80 million jury verdict in theft of trade secret case against Taiwanese competitor and its chairman. Mr. Quinn was lead counsel at trial.
- Represented aerospace company in the retrial of a tortious interference suit brought against it in which the plaintiff had won $15 million in the previous trial and had rejected a $1 million settlement offer before the second trial. At retrial, Mr. Quinn was lead trial counsel and obtained a defense verdict.
- Represented Crest Financial Limited, formerly the largest minority stockholder of Clearwire Corporation, a telecommunications company holding highly coveted broadband spectrum to prosecute its lawsuit to block Sprint Nextel Corporation's effort to acquire Clearwire below fair market value. Mr. Quinn was chosen to personally lead the trial team. As a result of Clearwire's suit challenging the offer, Sprint substantially raised its offer, thus mooting the suit.
- Representing Nestle, one of the world's leading nutrition, health, and wellness companies, in an antitrust case brought by Clemmy's LLC, an ice cream company.
- Lead counsel for Snapchat defending claims by a former Stanford student who seeks $1 billion claiming he was a co-founder of the company who was wrongfully excluded from the business.
